

SOCIETY GIRLS BECOME NURSES

Three Daughters of John R. Walsh Find Their Mission in Life.

Chicago, June 1.—Denying themselves the honors and privileges of society, Misses Adelaide and Vivian Walsh, daughters of John R. Walsh, millionaire ex-president of the Southern Indiana railroad, have dedicated their lives to the care of the sick and injured. Now, upon the eve of the graduation of Miss Adelaide Walsh from the Mercy Hospital training school for nurses, a third sister, Dorothy Walsh, contemplates leaving the family home to adopt the same career.

Miss Adelaide Walsh entered a course of training at the Mercy Hospital training school, affiliated with Northwestern university, three years ago. During her course of study she had been closely associated with J. B. Murray, acting as nurse for many of his patients.

She was private nurse to Bishop Edward Dunne of Dallas, Tex., when the latter was taken to Mercy hospital, suffering from heart disease. In November, early in February he was moved to his home in Texas and Miss Walsh went with him, caring for him until the early part of May.

So enthusiastic was Miss Adelaide Walsh over her chosen profession that her sister, Vivian, determined to follow her steps, and a year ago entered the training school. Now Miss Dorothy Walsh announces her determination to be the third nurse of the family.

The three girls are unusually beautiful, and as one after the other has determined to adopt the profession of nursing they have met with determined opposition from society friends.

Miss Adelaide Walsh was educated at the Sacred Heart academy of this city, the select school where Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Mather Smith and Mrs. Marshall Field, jr., were educated.

Graduation exercises of the Mercy Hospital training school are to be held at the Auditorium Thursday night. The class with which Miss Walsh graduates numbers thirty.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Orpheum closes its vaudeville season this week in a blaze of glory. It is really presenting as a finish for a year, which in the main has been a most excellent one, one of the best bills so far given.

From the first number to the last last evening the audience enjoyed it, through one act, shrieking with laughter, and through another in rapt attention.

The headliner, the pictures presented by Jean Marcel and his very capable corps of assistants, is well worthy of its praise on any program. The beautiful pictures presented, some of them in the most difficult poses imaginable, are a whole show in themselves. The color effects, not alone on the colored pictures, but on the exquisitely outlined bas-reliefs as well, were wonderful, and fully justify the carrying of the special 1,500-pound switchboard. Too much cannot be said in praise of the ability shown by the actors, but it must be admitted that the pictures relating to war, the bas-reliefs, "The Volunteers," "The Departure," "Aux Armes," and "Marathon" were the best.

"Evangelina's" beautiful hoister, made a rippling amusement by placidly chewing the gown of the fair heroine of Longfellow's story, but aside from this all went along very smoothly.

Of the other numbers it would be hard to pick one better than the others—all were so good in their way. Wilbur Mack is back again, with his songs and into a little musical playlet called "The Girl and the Pearl," and by the way, the girl is one—a pearl. The playlet has to amount to much, but it serves to show off a very pretty girl and affords a good lesson in flirtation for those who need it.

Fred Sossman came on the boards straight from the train apparently, but he demonstrated his ability to rise above make-up, for with his few limitations he kept the house well pleased. Orth and Fern, with an alleged "musical trifle," which had the deserved title of "Sign That Book," made of it anything but a trifle, for it is one of the laughing hits of the season.

Two "suremure" jarkies do a song and dance stunt which is original and clever, and Harry Tsuda, the Japanese equilibrist, who opens the show, is one of a thousand for his wonderful feats in balancing. The music is excellent and the three kineodrome pictures are all good. The show goes all the week and next week the summer season opens with Katherine Gray, in Clyde Fitch's new play, "The Truth."

In Mary Hiss de Moss, the New York soprano, who is to make her appearance in June 10 with Walter Damrosch, local music-lovers will find a singer of unusual attainments. Mme. de Moss has scored repeated successes in concert and oratorio, while as soloist with leading orchestras and at important festivals her name has become widely known.

Mme. de Moss has the art and style of Emma Juch or Mrs. Henschel, declares the Brooklyn Eagle. "Moreover, her voice has the bloom and dewy freshness of youth. It is bird-like, rather than bell-like, unalloyed delight. The grace, delicacy, archness, taste and unflinching beauty of tone with which she sang, placed her in the very front rank of the singer-singers. The Brooklyn institute ought to bring this singer back again. It secures very few in whom beauty of voice and finished art are so perfectly met."

There was a brisk demand yesterday for tickets to the Walter Damrosch musical festival, which takes place at the Salt Lake theatre, June 10.

To day is the fourth in the life of the cameraphone, as far as Salt Lake is concerned. And the crowds at the Lyric are growing larger all the time. Yesterday afternoon and last night they were bigger than ever. All the performers in the singing-talking-moving picture bill made hits, exactly as they would have done had they been appearing in their proper persons.

At the Grand those who have already this week witnessed the performance of "Nelle, the Beautiful Clock Model," declare it as entertaining and thrilling a play as the Burgess company has attempted during its engagement here.

DEATH OF PETER M. WENTZ

Leading Citizen of Utah County, Residing at Timpanogos, Expires of Heart Failure.

Provo, June 1.—Peter M. Wentz of Timpanogos, one of the leading citizens of this section, died yesterday from heart trouble. Mr. Wentz was born at Canaan Corners, Pa., July 3, 1831. He became a member of the Mormon church in St. Louis in 1855 and the same year came to Utah. He was a member of the city council of Provo for ten years in the late seventies and early eighties, and held other positions of prominence. Later he was bishop of Timpanogos ward, being released in 1883 on account of failing health. The deceased was an honorable, intelligent man, respected by all his acquaintances. He leaves a wife, six children and twelve grandchildren. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 12 o'clock in the Timpanogos ward house.

The following marriage licenses have been issued: Ed M. Rowe and Minnie Berry, both of Spanish Fork; George C. Whitney and Hazel Evans, both of Naevies; C. R. Howes and Leah L. Huggard, both of American Fork; Reid Beck of Spring City and Annie Passey of Provo. The board of county commissioners will sit as a board of equalization to hear complaints in the matter of tax equalization and abatements on the dates given below: For Lehi, Cedar Fort, Fairfield, Manning, American Fork, Alpine and Highland, Tuesday, June 2; Pleasant Grove and Lantana, Wednesday, June 3; Spanish Fork, Goshen, Thistle, Clinton, Tucker, Colton and Salem, Thursday, June 4; Springville and Maple Falls, Friday, June 5; Payson, Lake Shore, Benjamin, Spring Lake and Santaquin, Saturday, June 6; Provo, Monday, June 8.

Charles Good, charged with grand larceny and embezzlement, connected with the disposing of a buggy belonging to Stork Bros. of Payson, was permitted to plead guilty to petit larceny. He was sentenced to three months in the county jail.

A number of newspaper men of the county met here today and took the train for Castilla, where they will effect an organization and attend to other business matters.

Benedict Winters, a juvenile tramp, who claims Oklahoma as his home, was sent to the industrial school today. He was sentenced to work as a vagrant. This he refused to do, saying he was a bona fide business end of the paper. Mr. Winters' school and his wish was granted.

Harvester's Big Output Will Thrash One Thousand Bushels Per Day and Reduce Cost by One-Third Over Old Way.

Neph, June 1.—Another new combined harvester and thrasher has been shipped in here by Grace Bros., to be used on the farm of the coming harvest season. This makes two such machines in Juab county, and, in fact, the only two of their kind east of the Sierra Nevada mountains. The one owned by Grace Bros. is slightly different from the one owned by the Utah Arid Farm, in that it will be operated by horse power instead of by a traction engine. Twelve span of horses, with one driver, will make a novel sight for this country. The machine will cut a twenty-foot swath and will harvest and thresh 1,000 bushels per day. It will require five or six men for its operation and will reduce the cost fully one-third over the old style method of harvesting and threshing. There will be the additional saving of cutting and threshing the grain while it is ripe and not over-mature. There will be a big demonstration day when the grain is ready, and the arid farm of the state will be invited to attend.

The county board of equalization is in session today equalizing the valuations of property upon which complaints are being made.

Ralph Henriod, publisher of the Neph Record, has been compelled to take a month's vacation from his work owing to ill health. Alfred Orme, who has been in charge of the paper, Mr. Henriod will leave for Salt Lake this week to go under the care of a specialist.

EXERCISES ARE POSTPONED

Observance of Anniversary of Brigham Young's Birth Delayed.

Monday, June 1, marked the 70th anniversary of the birth of Brigham Young, the Mormon leader who led the pioneers into this valley in 1847 and first established the white civilization here. There were to have been exercises at Vandamere, following the custom observed in former years, but owing to the inclemency of the weather the program was not carried out. The day was so disagreeable that only a few were present. It was finally decided to abandon the program, or, at least, postpone it until some future day.

There was also to have been a reunion of the Young family, whose members are numerous, but that, too, was abandoned. After consultation it was agreed to leave the calling of a meeting of the family reunion to the president of the family society, John M. Young.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR UTAH

May Be Found in Swamps Near Ephraim—Japanese Matting Grows in Profusion.

Ephraim, May 31.—Iver Tiedstrom, the government botanist, spent a few days in this vicinity last week making a study of the flora of the valley. Assisted by a student from the University of Minnesota, he collected sufficient plants to make a large herbarium, and when he received instructions to go elsewhere he expressed his regrets that he was not permitted to spend the summer here. He left during the latter part of the week for the Pacific coast and will proceed at once to Siberia, where he will spend the summer in the interest of his department.

Mr. Tiedstrom was in this county about a year ago and while here he made a study of the conditions that exist in the large swamp area west of Ephraim. From time to time various projects have been broached, all of which had for their purpose the draining of the swamp. Thus far no visible headway has been made in the matter, even though it has been frequently announced that some of the undertakings would soon reach their consummation.

Now Mr. Tiedstrom comes with an entirely novel proposition. While on his former visit to the county some of the Japanese matting came which grows in profusion in some parts of the swamp. He made a mat of the material and this was covered with plaster. A test by the government experts showed that the matting is far superior to ordinary lathing, as it stands a heavier strain and is practically indestructible.

This is not merely a theoretical experiment, for the Japanese cane matting has long been used in Europe as a substitute for lathing. The product has already been provided. Besides, the cane is being used for many other purposes at the present time.

It is not improbable that the government will try to induce owners of the swamp land to engage in the cane industry.

A runaway occurred yesterday near the cemetery, which might have caused a very serious accident. Mr. and Mrs. Abel Nielsen were driving in a two-seated rig to the cemetery, when their horses became frightened at a boy who was riding a wheel and at once became unmanageable, running against a fence, breaking the tugs and tongue. Mr. and Mrs. Nielsen considered themselves fortunate that this happened, as they were left in the buggy and the horses were caught by a crowd of men along Main street.

Milton, the 12-year-old son of Bert Groves, was kicked by a wild horse yesterday afternoon. While walking behind one of the horses which was tied in the stable, as usual, it became frightened, and kicked, striking him on the leg, cutting a gash several inches in length. Dr. Dyring was called and dressed the wound, which, he says, will be healed "asur supponduos ou il sup and p u."

W. R. Ward of Dyersburg, Tenn., writes: "This is to certify that I have used Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup for chronic constipation, and it has proven, without a doubt, to be a thorough, practical remedy for this trouble, and it is with pleasure I offer my conscientious reference." Stop Winking

Winking time is past. Its important mission has been accomplished. It has acquainted the public with the genuine goodness of Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes. It has familiarized everybody with the package and the name. Now the dimes are rolling in. Everybody who tried this most delicious of all breakfast foods, wants more. This is the invariable result of the first taste.

It's the flavor that wins the favor. And it's the universal favor—the wonderful popularity—the instantaneous success of Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes, that brought the imitator. But they imitate in name only. The taste—the dainty crispness—the real goodness of the genuine cannot be reproduced. So keep both eyes open. Remember the name and the package. When you want the real Toasted Corn Flakes, and you always want it when you want the real flavor, ask for and insist on getting
